

Formal Introduction

Not sure how to introduce yourself to your German-speaking business partners? This can be challenging, but don't worry - we're here to help! Formal introductions are much easier than you'd think and are essential if you want to form new contacts.

Here we'll introduce you to essential phrases that are useful in formal situations. You'll learn how to greet others, start conversations, and make sure your contacts stay in touch with you. Let's get started!

Table of Contents

- Formal Greetings
- Continuing a Formal Conversation
- Formal Goodbyes

Formal Greetings

Below you'll find phrases that you can use to greet others and to begin introductions. Just don't forget to first shake hands and make eye contact with the person you're talking to!

German

Guten Morgen!

Guten Tag!

Guten Abend!

Hallo, Herr Hartmann.

Wie heißen Sie?

Ich heiße Tarik Demir.

Erlauben Sie mir mich vorzustellen.

Ich möchte Ihnen meinen Mitarbeiter Leon vorstellen.

Schön, Sie kennenzulernen.

English

Good morning!

Good afternoon!

Good evening!

Hello, Mr. Hartmann.

What is your name?

My name is Tarik Demir.

Let me introduce myself.

I'd like to introduce my coworker, Leon.

It's nice to meet you.

 German

Wie geht es Ihnen?

Guten Morgen! (Good morning!)

Greetings like Guten Morgen and Guten Abend are used at the beginning of formal events, such as business meetings, interviews, academic conventions, or even in class. In response, you'd normally either repeat the greeting or simply say Hallo (Hello).

Erlauben Sie mir mich vorzustellen (Let me introduce myself)

You can use this phrase if you'd like to introduce yourself to someone while in a formal situation. After you say this, you'd then give your name. For example: ().

Ich möchte Ihnen meinen Mitarbeiter Leon vorstellen (I'd like to introduce my coworker, Leon)

When you want to introduce somebody other than yourself while in a formal gathering, use the sentence pattern Ich möchte Ihnen meinen + PERSON + vorstellen (I'd like to introduce + PERSON). Here is an example: Ich möchte Ihnen Emily vorstellen. Wir arbeiten im Finanzbereich zusammen (I'd like to introduce Emily. We work in finance together). You could also use Darf ich Ihnen + PERSON + vorstellen? (Let me introduce + PERSON). Here is another example using this pattern: Darf ich Ihnen Philipp vorstellen? (Let me introduce Philipp). There are a number of things you could say after this. You'd most likely continue by explaining your relationship to the person you are introducing more, as in: Wir arbeiten gemeinsam an einem Projekt (We are working together on a project).

Schön, Sie kennenzulernen (It's nice to meet you)

After you have exchanged names with somebody, it is polite to say this phrase. You could also say: Es ist mir eine Freude, Sie kennenzulernen (It's a pleasure to meet you) or Freut mich, Ihre Bekanntschaft zu machen (Pleased to make your acquaintance). They are a bit more formal than just Schön, Sie kennenzulernen. These phrases help to create a positive and friendly atmosphere. In response, someone would most likely say: Es ist auch schön, Sie kennenzulernen (It's nice to meet you too).

Wie geht es Ihnen? (How are you doing?)

After you learn the name of someone new that you just met, it's polite to ask how they are doing. There are lots of different ways someone might respond. For example like this: Nicht schlecht, und Ihnen selbst? (Not too bad, and yourself?).

 English

How are you doing?

Continuing a Formal Conversation

The following phrases will help you get to know someone more while in a formal context. Use them after you've introduced yourself to someone new and want to start a conversation with them.

German

Was machen Sie beruflich?

Für welches Unternehmen arbeiten Sie?

Was ist Ihr Spezialgebiet?

In welchem Bereich sind Sie tätig?

Ich bin auf Marketing spezialisiert.

Ich arbeite in der Designbranche.

Haben Sie eine Visitenkarte?

English

What do you do for work?

What company are you working for?

What is your specialization?

What field do you work in?

My specialization is in marketing.

I work in the design industry.

Do you have a business card?

Was machen Sie beruflich? (What do you do for work?)

This question is great for getting to know more about someone in a business setting. You could also use the phrase Was machen Sie beruflich? (What do you do?) to ask the same thing. Someone might respond by saying their job title, field of work, or position in a company. For example: Ich bin Geschäftsführer (I am a general manager).

Ich bin auf Marketing spezialisiert (My specialization is in marketing)

Your Spezialgebiet is your area of expertise or the specific work that you do. By using the sentence pattern Ich bin auf + ARBEITSBEREICH + spezialisiert (My specialization is in + FIELD OF WORK) you can tell someone what your specialization is. Here is another example: Mein Spezialgebiet ist die Parkverwaltung (My specialization is in park management). An example response to this, is the question: Wie lange ist das schon Ihr Spezialgebiet? (How long has that been your specialization?). Alternatively, you could just tell someone what field you work in. Use the sentence pattern: Ich arbeite im + ARBEITSBEREICH (I work in + FIELD OF WORK) to do this, as in: Ich arbeite im Ingenieurwesen (I work in engineering). Here is another example question that someone might ask in response to this: Macht Ihnen Ihre Arbeit Spass? (Do you enjoy your work?).

Haben Sie eine Visitenkarte? (Do you have a business card?)

It's useful to have a Visitenkarte when you go into business situations. They're useful for sharing contact information and making sure that you make contacts. Other ways to ask for somebody's contact information include: Wie kann ich mit Ihnen Kontakt aufnehmen? (How can I get in contact with you?) and Darf ich Ihre E-Mail-Adresse haben? (Can I get your email address?). Somebody might respond to Haben Sie eine Visitenkarte? with Das tue ich, lassen Sie mich Ihnen eine geben (I do, let me give you one).

Formal Goodbyes

Here are useful phrases that you can use to end a formal introduction. Don't forget to shake hands and make eye contact again! It'd also be a good idea to let them know that you enjoyed meeting them before you go!

German

Es war mir ein Vergnügen, Sie kennenzulernen.

Es war schön, Sie kennenzulernen.

Es war auch schön, Sie kennenzulernen.

Lassen Sie mich Ihnen meine Karte geben.

Ich hoffe, wir sehen uns wieder.

Ich hoffe, wir sehen uns bald wieder.

Passen Sie auf sich auf.

English

It was a pleasure meeting you.

It was nice meeting you.

It was nice meeting you too.

Let me give you my card.

I hope we meet again.

I hope to see you again very soon.

Take care.

Es war mir ein Vergnügen, Sie kennenzulernen (It was a pleasure meeting you)

This phrase or the phrase Es war schön, Sie kennenzulernen (It was nice meeting you) are probably the most common ways to let someone know that you enjoyed meeting them. It's polite to say one of these phrases before leaving somebody you just met in a formal setting. Typical responses to these phrases are just the phrase plus auch. As in: Es war auch schön, Sie kennenzulernen (It was nice meeting you too) and Es war auch mir ein Vergnügen, Sie kennenzulernen (It was a pleasure meeting you too).

Lassen Sie mich Ihnen meine Karte geben (Let me give you my card)

When you are in a formal or business context, it is important to exchange contact information with others so that you can stay in touch. You can do this by saying this phrase to someone. You could also say Lassen Sie mich Ihnen meine E-Mail-Adresse geben (Let me give you my email) or Lassen Sie mich Ihnen meine Telefonnummer geben (Let me give you my phone number). Especially when in business settings, it is important to do this so that you can build up a network of contacts. Someone would most likely respond to any of these phrases with something like: Danke, ich werde Ihnen meine ebenfalls geben (Thank you, I will give you mine as well).

Frequently Asked Questions

What are the most important English phrases that I need to know when giving a formal introduction?

| | |
|--|--|
| Erlauben Sie mir mich vorzustellen. | Let me introduce myself. |
| Ich möchte Ihnen meinen Mitarbeiter Leon vorstellen. | I'd like to introduce my coworker, Leon. |
| Schön, Sie kennenzulernen. | It's nice to meet you. |
| Was machen Sie beruflich? | What do you do for work? |
| Haben Sie eine Visitenkarte? | Do you have a business card? |
| Es war mir ein Vergnügen, Sie kennenzulernen. | It was a pleasure meeting you. |
| Lassen Sie mich Ihnen meine Karte geben. | Let me give you my card. |

How do I tell someone what my work specialization is?

By using the sentence pattern Ich bin auf + ARBEITSBEREICH + spezialisiert (My specialization is in + FIELD OF WORK) you can tell someone what your specialization is.

Ich bin auf Marketing spezialisiert. (My specialization is in marketing.)

Ich bin auf Design spezialisiert. (My specialization is in design.)

Ich bin auf Biotechnik spezialisiert. (My specialization is in bio-engineering.)

What is the correct way to form a formal introduction in German?

When you first meet somebody in a formal setting, you should shake hands and make eye contact with them. Next you introduce yourself by telling them your name and field, position in a company, or your job title. It's polite to then ask the other person about themselves. At the end of the conversation, you should shake hands again and exchange contact information.

How does formal and informal German differ from each other?

The most obvious difference between informal and formal German is the use of the pronoun Sie instead of du. Sie is always written with a capital letter regardless of where it is in a sentence. The words Herr and Frau or other titles like Dr. or Professor are also used when referring to others. These words are used with last names, as first names are usually avoided. So, instead of calling someone, for example, Sarah, you might call them Frau Schmidt. You also want to avoid using abbreviations and any slang when speaking formal German.

How do I formally introduce someone other than myself?

These are two of the most common ways to introduce someone else when in a formal situation.

Ich möchte Ihnen meinen + PERSON + vorstellen. (I'd like to introduce + PERSON.)

Ich möchte Ihnen meinen Mitarbeiter Leon vorstellen. (I'd like to introduce my coworker, Leon.)

Ich möchte Ihnen meine Geschäftsführerin Isra vorstellen. (I'd like to introduce my head of staff, Tarik.)

Ich möchte Ihnen meinen Verlobten Elias vorstellen. (I'd like to introduce my fiancé, Amelia.)

Darf ich Ihnen + PERSON + vorstellen? (Let me introduce + PERSON.)

Darf ich Ihnen Philipp vorstellen? (Let me introduce Philipp.)

Darf ich Ihnen Herr Graf vorstellen? (Let me introduce Mr. Graf.)

Darf ich Ihnen meine Mitarbeiterin Sophie vorstellen? (Let me introduce my coworker, Sophie.)

What is normally said at the beginning of formal events?

Greetings like Guten Morgen and Guten Abend are used at the beginning of formal events, such as business meetings, interviews, academic conventions, or even in class. In response, you'd normally either repeat the greeting or simply say Hallo (Hello).

How do I introduce myself in a formal setting?

Erlauben Sie mir mich vorzustellen. (Let me introduce myself.)

You can use this phrase if you'd like to introduce yourself to someone while in a formal situation. After you say this, you'd then give your name. For example: ().

What could I ask someone in a formal setting in order to get to know them more?

Was machen Sie beruflich? (What do you do for work?)

This question is great for getting to know more about someone in a business setting. You could also use the phrase Was machen Sie beruflich? (What do you do?) to ask the same thing. Someone might respond by saying their job title, field of work, or position in a company. For example: Ich bin Geschäftsführer (I am a general manager).

[Listen to All
Phrases](#)